

Acknowledgments

On behalf of the South Florida Water Management District and Florida Department of Environmental Protection, I (Garth Redfield, Lead Environmental Scientist, Report Project Manager) wish to gratefully acknowledge the contributions of the many professionals who have made the 2001 Everglades Consolidated Report a reality.

Authors: This Report could not exist without the diligent effort of its authors. I wish to personally thank all the authors from the District and Department for their excellent analyses of complex information that form the substance of this Report. The quality and value of the Report are a reflection of the authors' competence, commitment and willingness to respond fully to peer review and public comment. These individuals, particularly the senior authors of each chapter or appendix, created the Report, often as an additional duty, forced into extremely busy schedules; their professionalism and dedication are gratefully acknowledged. Individuals who contributed substantially to the data, findings and narrative as authors of this Report are listed below.

Editorial and Production Team

The authors' products were organized, edited and formatted by a team of outstanding professionals. Their unique abilities and skills created a Report that is not only sound technically, but is also grammatically correct and presented in a logical manner supported by clear and appropriate graphics. The exceptional teamwork and productivity of these individuals are acknowledged:

For managerial oversight, product evaluation and support of the Report production process:
Tom Fontaine and Debra Azeredo and Frank Nearhoof

For thoughtful reviews, technical editing and professional guidance on the entire Report:
Gary Goforth, Keith Rizzardi and Susan Gray. The Department's Everglades Technical Support Unit also provided excellent reviews: Frank Nearhoof, Grover Payne, Kenneth Weaver and Temperince Bennett are particularly acknowledged.

For the enormous task of project management, design and execution of the Report:
Gary Colecchio, Production Manager, and Susan Bennett, Production Supervisor

For the extra effort and initiative needed to develop and produce the Executive Summary, written and edited in cooperation with 2001 Everglades Consolidated Report authors:
Susan Bennett, Felicia Berger, Gary Colecchio, Gary Goforth, Krysten Laine, Keith Rizzardi and Cecile Ross. Maps designed by Diane Bello-Smith. Illustrations and graphics designed by Chris King, Krysten Laine, Cheri Craft and Violeta Ciuca. Graphic Designer for the Executive Summary was Cheri Craft, whose skill and patience are recognized as essential in producing the Executive Summary.

For organization of the panel review and public workshops, and associated administrative support: Linda Davis, Mary Skinner and Barbara Dickey

For support with graphics, printing, multimedia and Web design: Cheri Craft, Chris King, Diane Bello-Smith, Trudy Morris and Chris Burns

For copy editing and proof reading: Susan Bennett, Felicia Berger and Krysten Laine
